David is a trainee in the Commercial Litigation, Civil Fraud and Asset Tracing department

David has assisted on a wide range of cases at Peters & Peters, and has developed particular experience in sanctions, compliance and extradition matters. He has provided ongoing guidance to a major multinational corporation on sanctions issues, sought the removal of INTERPOL Red Notices, and assisted clients subject to CMA, FCA and SFO investigations.

Prior to assuming his role as a trainee solicitor, David worked as a Legal Researcher at Peters & Peters and contributed to Michael O’Kane and Maya Lester QC’s leading blog on sanctions. He has written for numerous leading legal publications, including the International Compliance Association’s periodical inCompliance, Financier Worldwide and Money Laundering Bulletin.

David was the 2013 recipient of the Jamieson Award scholarship from Middle Temple.
